Provincial cuts gouge county budget

by Russ Duhaime

Haliburton County Council will have to go rummaging through its budget looking for a spare $40,000 now that the province is backing away from its promised level of support.

Working on the assumption that the province would provide the unconditional grant it had promised, council finalized its budget a few weeks ago. The province then began to reconsider its promise of a two per cent increase in unconditional grants. And last Thursday, the county was informed that it will be getting almost $40,000 less than it had budgeted for.

Chief Administrative Officer Gary McKnight says the cutback equals almost two percent of the county levy. He also says he's not sure which pot this money will come from.

County Councillors will be meeting this Wednesday in Minden when this and other anticipated cutbacks may be addressed. Contacted Thursday, Warden Chris Hodgson said he's not sure what the county will do to recoup this loss.

The timing of this announcement is a further aggravation for council. "It's totally sickening," said the warden. "There's no planning to it... they wait until we set our budgets," said Hodgson. "It's not just us. This is happening right across the province."

In a press release issued last week, the Minister of Municipal Affairs says the cutbacks should cause no hardships for municipali-

Teachers accept pay freeze deal from board

by Andy Holloway

The Haliburton County school board and the two teachers' unions came to an agreement last Thursday on a one year contract extension which calls for a pay freeze.

Both the board and the teachers ratified the new agreement with the board giving approval after the teachers had already voted to accept the board's offer.

The existing contracts with both elementary and secondary school teachers were renewed for one year. As well as the pay freeze, there will be no increase in teacher benefits.

Teachers, recognizing the board's tight financial position, accepted the board's first offer with the guarantee that there would be no layoffs or program cuts for the upcoming school year.

"We were very pleased to cooperate with one another in these tough economic times"

-Cheryl Murdoch

The school board was counting on a pay freeze as it had already set its budget for the year based on that premise. The board's chief negotiator Cheryl Murdoch said she was pleased that the teachers accepted the board's first and only offer.

"Basically, we were very pleased to cooperate with one another in these tough economic times. We had a short set of negotiations and the teachers realized the bind we were in and so our first offer was basically our final offer and that was it," said Murdoch.

Elementary teacher negotiator Diane Claus said the teachers were also pleased with the contract negotiations.

"The teachers certainly consider that the board is doing the best it possibly can to maintain programs and continue to produce a high quality of education in this county," said Claus. "We all have the same goal here so we didn't find it difficult to reach an agreement."

The top three board administrators voluntarily ac-

Coby constable earns education honour

Coboconk OPP Constable Dave Fletcher gives Liz Crego a helping hand with her son Tyler so that Tyler can get an inside look at the detachment's marine patrol boat. Mallory Crego and David Loughheed patiently await their turn to have a look see. Fletcher won the Victoria County Board of Education award of merit.

Dave Fletcher takes first VCBE community award

by Jerry Grozelle

Constable Dave Fletcher was the first recipient of the Victoria County Board of Education (VCBE) Community Award of Merit at a ceremony in Lindsay last Monday.

Fletcher is the Community Services Officer with the Coboconk detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police.

"It's a new award that the board initiated this year," said Sharon Johnston, executive assistant to the superintendent of the VCBE.

Fletcher received several nominations from people who thought he deserved recognition for his contribution to education. Educators as well as the general public were eligible to make nominations.

A selection committee goes through all of the nominations and chooses the best candidate for the award.

"A lot of people feel that he does wonderful work with the students," Johnston said. "He has a tremendous rapport with the students and the staff respect his ability greatly."

When Fletcher was asked to attend the ceremonies during a professional development day at Lindsay Collegiate he wasn't told that he was going to receive the award.

"It was really a surprise to me," he said.

Fletcher, as he is known among friends and co-workers, has been an OPP officer for 18 years, the past six with the Coboconk detachment. He is in his fourth year as community services officer. His first posting with the OPP was with Coboconk where he stayed for two and a half years. Before that he was an officer with the York Regional Police Force. He also served in Listowel and Minaki before returning to Coby.

From September to mid-May, Fletcher works full time in the schools. He introduces elementary school pupils to police work and goes into grade six classrooms and teaches the 12 part VIP (Values, Influences and Peers) Program, which he describes as a life skills program. His secondary school agenda includes presentations on drinking and driving, drug awareness and how to recognize abusive relationships, among other themes.

"I really enjoy the job," Fletcher said. "I like working with the kids especially."

During the late spring and summer months, Fletcher is on marine patrol, where he emphasizes boating safety and keeps a lookout for boaters who bend the marine laws.

The marine unit patrols the Trent-Severn Waterway from Fenelon Falls to Bolsover as well as several inland lakes such as Crystal, Shadow, Head and Dalrymple.

Dysart up 4%

by Andy Holloway

Dysart council will be passing along a 3.89 per cent budget increase representing an increase of about $10 to its property taxpayers this year.

While no services were taken away, council did add a few. A bailer for residents to recycle cardboard, better communication system for firefighters, property information stored on computers and more fireworks for Victoria Day celebrations were some of the goodies put on the township's spending list.

The increase combines with the county and school board increases to add about $53 for every $1,000 in assessment, Dysart will take an extra $9.88, the county takes another $5.98 while the school board adds $37.89. All told the Dysart taxpayer will see their taxes rise 5.38 per cent this year.

Council was originally going to take $100,000 out of reserves to help lessen the blow to its residents, but it decided not to do that last Monday at its monthly meeting. Instead Reeve Chris Hodgson suggested the roads' budget will be cut by $50,000 down to $1.45 million, $35,000 will not be added to the reserves and interest revenues are now projected to be $15,000 higher.

Councillors agreed with Hodgson's proposals.

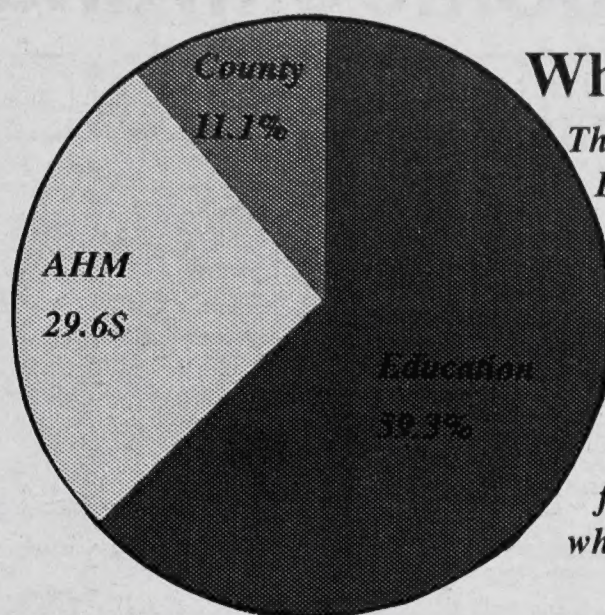

"I think we have the ways and means to get around it (the $100,000)," said deputy-reeve Curry Bishop who also agreed with the idea of forming a committee to keep a closer eye on the roads situation.

"As far as I'm concerned I think if we can form a committee we can better determine where the money should be spent."

That will be tricky since the roads' department overspent its budget by $270,000 last year due to some construction on Basshaunt Lake Road and the extra costs associated with a cold, snowy winter. The only reason the municipality isn't in budget trouble is because other departments came in below cost.

The other councillors also voiced their support of the plan to keep reserves at their present level as a safety net for unplanned or capital expenses.

As well, the municipality has already worked in the expected cuts in provincial grants so when the boom is lowered later this month Dysart will already have been prepared.

Who gets our taxes?

The Haliburton County Board of Education gets the biggest piece of the property tax pie. Minden ratepayers contribute almost 60 per cent of their taxes to the education system.

The municipal levy consumes the next largest portion, followed by the county levy, which takes just 11 per cent.

Minden holds the line at 1%

by Russ Duhaime

Minden Council has managed to put a lid on taxes without dipping into reserves, cutting services or reducing staff.

In fact, Councillor Gerald Rome says reserves are being enhanced in this year's budget, which reflects a one per cent increase in the levy.

The slight increase might well have been a decrease if not for a suspected drop in provincial unconditional grants. The province has been aggravating the municipal budget process by tinkering with unconditional grants.

"We had a much better looking budget until we got the announcement from the government about cutbacks," said Rome. Instead of a one per cent increase, he said it might have been a two or three per cent decrease in the municipal portion of the tax bill.

Initially, there was to be a two per cent increase in grants, but that has now been rolled back to an average 11.4 per cent decrease. Maybe.

As of Thursday, Minden Council had not received confirmation of how much the township will receive from the province. The budget, therefore, is based on a best guess.

Councillor Rome said it is important to finalize the budget and get the tax bills out as soon as possible. The alternative is to delay the process, borrow money and pay interest.

"We can't wait for them to make up their minds," said Rome. "We can't afford to borrow, we have to get the bills out."

The latest announcement from the province says grant cutbacks will average 11.4 per cent across the province. Rome said council used this figure to arrive at its budget. If the cutbacks are higher, it may affect some services, but council is optimistic these will be minimal.

"While the province continues to cut back provincial grants, we are confident that any reduction in services, if any, will be minimal," council notes in a press release.

Council credited municipal staff for their help with this budget and their success in cost cutting during 1992. An $82,000 surplus left over from last year's budget will provide a cushion to ratepayers in 1993.

"Council especially wishes to thank all municipal staff and department managers," the press release says. They not only provided Minden with excellent results for 1992, but assisted in the presentation of "hold the line" departmental budgets for 1993."

Although the municipal share of this year's tax increase is just one per cent, ratepayers will see an overall tax hike of 3.8 per cent when the bills arrive in the mail.

The inflated bill is due to higher increases generated by the school board and county council. The county's mill rate is increasing by 6.4 per cent this year, and the education mill rate is increasing by 4.7 per cent at the elementary level and 4.7 per cent at the secondary level.

To put the increase in perspective, for every $100 that Minden residents paid in taxes last year, they will pay an extra $3.80 this year.

Another awesome Jim and Dave adventure

Comedy musical team pairs up to find the missing Golden Toad

Jim and Dave (or was Dave and Jim) teamed up for another awesome adventure on May 5 and gave Archie Stouffer students an environmental ride around the world.

Jim Gordon and Dave Archibald (also known for his singing at the Minden Sled Dog Derby) were making a return appearance at the school after being a hit the first time around last year. The students paid for the performance out of their student activity funds. This year the dynamic duo teamed up for their Awesome Search for the Golden Toad.

Along with their usual up-tempo songs, wacky comedy and of course the awesome handshake introduced last year, Jim and Dave also had an environmental message to pass along to the students. This year's trip dealt with the disappearance of many of the earth's animals because of man's intrusion into their natural habitat.

Starting at a zoo the pair discovered that the rare Golden Toad had escaped and a $500 reward was being offered for the return of it. Using their magic bike Jim and Dave travelled in circles on their way to Costa Rica to find another Golden Toad.

Alas, the only toad left was a statue commemorating the final disappearance of the toad's habitat which had been paved over for a shopping mall.

However, it wasn't all bad news as Jim and Dave provided plenty of laughs and enough costume changes to make Madonna blush. As well the pair had a few well aimed insults for the stoic grade eights just hanging out in the back row (just kidding).

It seems Jim and Dave's work has been noticed by many others in the province as well. They have created Jim and Dave's Awesome Supernatural Camping Adventure and will be performing it as part of Algonquin Park's 100th anniversary celebrations.

The show will be the third they have put together and will be seen across the province as they tour various provincial parks and cities, including a stop at the Owen Sound Folk Festival. Ten new original songs will be presented along with comedy and information.

The pair will be in the area several times during the summer including May 22 at Algonquin Park, July 13 at Balsam Lake and also on the same day at Sibbald Point.

--A.H.

Hey Kids! Dave Archibald, of the comedy musical team Jim and Dave, sings a song about friendship, plays the banjo and rides a magic bike while searching for the elusive golden toad while Archie Stouffer kindergarten students look on from the front row. Jim and Dave will be on tour later this spring and summer as part of Algonquin Park's 100th anniversary celebrations.

Resort expansion approved despite complaints

by Andy Holloway

It was another battle between residential and business development interests, but this time business won.

Stanhope council voted to allow Sandy Lane Resort to go ahead with a plan to erect a new social centre for guests of the resort.

A number of Halls Lake residents were upset with the resort's plans and voiced their dissent at a public meeting held at Stanhope council last Wednesday. Residents said the centre would upset the environmental balance of the surrounding area and water supply, create more noise pollution and more traffic into the area.

The proposal has approval from the Ministry of Natural Resources and any plans for the new building would have to be approved by the Ministry of Health as well as conform to the township's building code.

Sandy Lane owner Joachim Matysek said he plans to build a centre about the size of Club 35 which could handle up to 100 people. The building would be insulated, heated, have a kitchen and washroom facilities.

Some cottagers said the centre would destroy the peace and quiet of the area and lower property values.

"I think it's time to give consideration to cottagers who have been there 50 years and the environmental situation it would create," said Doug Butts.

Butts said the MNR's approval was not good enough and Matysek should be forced to undertake a full environmental assessment to see what effect his plans will have.

Another of Matysek's neighbors, Lynn Butts, said she was concerned about the effect more people might have on her beach area. Butts said her kids were already afraid to enter the water because of all the traffic and wanted council to consult more with the residents. "I just feel that our rights have been run over in this process."

Frank Caruso said his three small children would be affected by the noise created if 100 people were having a party in the centre.

However, several residents came out in support of Sandy Lane's plan. Garth Mole said he has never had any complaints about the noise at Sandy Lane and that people need to have a place to do something when it rains. He added that if both the MNR and MOE do not have any problems with the plan "then it should be good enough for the rest of us."

Ken Campbell agreed: "We've never had any trouble with the guests. It seems to me it's between those people who buy property and those who inherit property. Things change and nothing is like it was 30 years ago, especially in Canada."

His wife Betty agreed and said she hears just as much noise from her neighbours as she does from the resort's guests.

Harvey Kerr said there may not be a problem now, but in the future there might be. He suggested that council consider some guidelines to spell out exactly what can and can not be done.

"The definition of a social centre is wide open. What's going to happen 15 years down the line with Joachim's successor?" asked Kerr.

In casting their votes councillor Murray Daniels and Jim Hicks said residents should feel fortunate they have a neighbor who seems to go out of his way to settle concerns. Daniels said council "can't afford to stand still because if we stop we'll regress."

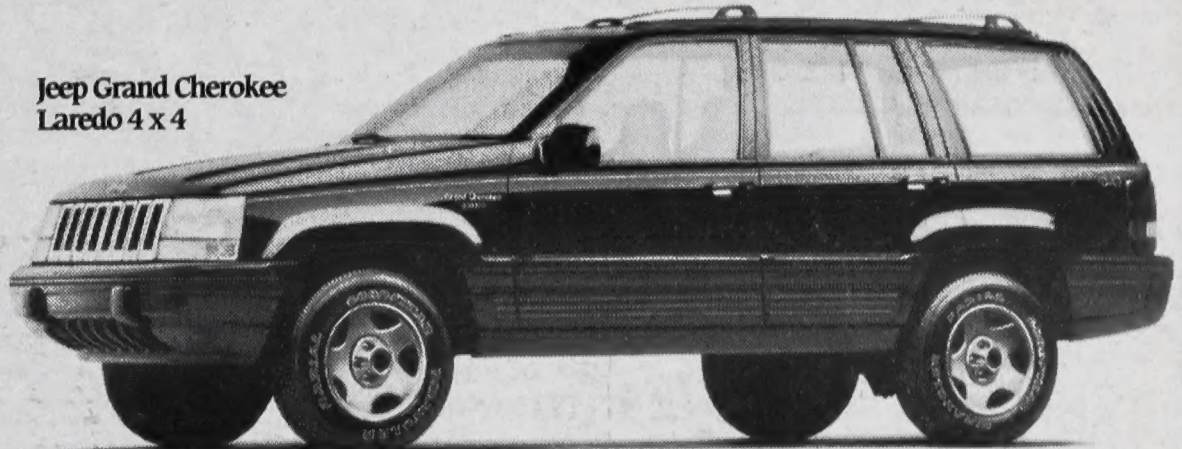

Matysek's neighbors will receive final notice of the plans and then have 20 days to voice their opposition and take their case to the Ontario Municipal Board.

Everyone loves A Parade

Primary students from Minden Archie Stouffer Elementary School annex delighted a large crowd along Main Street as they marched through downtown Minden. The parade was in celebration of Education week and the theme was "Castles and Dragons." ASES principal (King) McKay Brydon knighted all of his loyal followers during a special ceremony at the throne in front of the primary school. With the help of a police escort, the teachers and students stopped traffic in the village for half an hour as the costumed participants made their journey past the cheering spectators.

Youth parties escalate to disaster

the cheek.

The incident follows close on the heels of a much larger pit party in Caledon where eight youths were killed in a traffic accident. Police see these tragedies as a symptom of the absence of controls at these parties.

Adam says pit parties are not a new occurrence. Youths all over the country stage similar parties in remote areas. The organizers are not seeking to bother anybody, says

Adam. They're just looking to get away from controls and have a party.

The problems often come when the parties grow out of control. Friends tell friends and soon there are dozens, and sometimes hundreds, of people. "We've seen them with 200 to 300 people," says Adam. The mixture of alcohol and few controls makes for a dangerous potion.

From a police perspective, these parties are very difficult to control. Adam says police are usually not aware of the parties until they are well underway. By that time, the parties have escalated well beyond the organizers' ability to control.

It's unrealistic to think that police can put an end to pit parties. However, Adam says they are hoping to assist organizers who wish to establish controls.

He says police would like to know about the parties ahead of time so they can provide organizers with some tips on controlling attendance. Organizers and property owners should also be aware of the potential for civil action if anyone is hurt during one of these parties.

Cuts dig at local budgets

ties. Ed Philip said the reduction is less than two per cent of estimated 1993 municipal operating expenditures.

"We don't expect any municipality to have to increase taxes as a result of this reduction," said Philip. "But even if some choose to raise taxes, we've been able to distribute the reductions so that no municipality would have to raise them by more than three per cent. That would translate into an increase of about $15 for an average Ontario household."

The cutbacks experienced by the county will also be felt by each of the municipalities. Fortunately, most municipal councils had an inkling that this was coming down the pipe and have built it into their budgets.

Dysart and Minden, for example, approved their budgets last week anticipating to get less than initially promised from the province. In Minden's case, the difference in funding pushed the new levy up by about three per cent. Instead of getting a two percent reduction in the municipal portion of their tax bill, Minden residents will see a one per cent increase.

Trustee hopes settlement will silence some critics

cepted a pay freeze earlier this year as a sign of good faith. Trustees also froze their honourariums at the April general board meeting.

Murdoch hopes the contract will settle some of the criticisms pointed at teachers in recent months concerning their high salaries and at the board for not playing hard ball with the teacher's unions.

"I see it as a good piece of business for both sides. Instead of trying to divide and conquer, which happens a lot of the time - us against them and them against us - we worked together," said Murdoch. "We're in the business of educating children here to the best of our ability. We have to work together and this contract is proof that this is what we're doing."

The one year deal also provides protection for both sides. The board gets another chance to toe the line next year while the teachers may get an opportunity to raise their salaries or benefits if the economy improves.

"The board, because of the economic climate, can not commit beyond this year's budget as to what we can do next year. We may be in even tougher times next year. There's no point promising something when our ability to pay may not be there," said Murdoch.

As well as the economy, the province is still tinkering with education reform and no one can see far enough in advance to justify a longer contract said Claus.

In Victoria County, the elementary school teachers approved a two year deal in January calling for raises of $500 in the first year and $100 in the second. The secondary teachers agreed to just a one year deal with a $500 raise.

Editorial Butterflies

After months of work, we've still got butterflies. The Times' newest publication hits the streets today and we're anxious to hear if our readers are as enthusiastic about the bold new magazine as we are.

By introducing SummerTimes, The Times is taking another step into uncharted territory in this county. It's much like the risk we took when we introduced the Highlands' first seasonal publication, This Week in the Highlands, several years ago. At that time, it was the only publication that featured the unique summer flavour of Haliburton County. It was a risky venture, but it proved to be successful. So successful, in fact, that soon others followed suit with look-alike publications.

Well, This Week in the Highlands is now a thing of the past. We felt the look was getting stale. The newspaper-style format just wasn't fitting for the subject matter and the impact for our advertisers wasn't as great as it could be.

What we've done with SummerTimes is taken the best parts of This Week in the Highlands and combined them with a variety of new features in an attractive magazine format. We're convinced readers and advertisers will love the new magazine. The look is fresh, the format is easy to handle and the stories and columns are entertaining and informative.

We hope you enjoy Haliburton County's first magazine. We're afraid our competitors won't -- but then again it's not always easy to "keep up with The Times."

Questions

Is the proposed long-term-care addition holding up development in Haliburton village?

Dysart Council received an application from a developer last Monday who wanted to start up a new business in the village. Unfortunately, his plans were rejected because the township's sewer system is at capacity. An expansion project is in the works, but the village will not be able to accommodate this venture for another three or four years.

It seems odd that just a few months ago Dysart's reeve was saying the sewers have more than enough capacity to accommodate a new 30-bed long-term-care facility and now there's not enough to handle a new car wash.

Has sewage capacity been reserved for the hospital addition? If so, does that mean development will be stifled for the next three or four years?

In their vigor to win new long-term-care facility, did Haliburton's community leaders neglect the business community?

We await a reply.

Cottagers are humans too

Editor:

May 10th issue over the signature of Alan R. Clark - captioned matter - "Who is to blame for lake polluting boaters if not the cottagers."

I do not see any parenthesis used in the article which leads me to think the whole piece reflects the feelings of Mr. Clark.

There is some truth in what Mr. Clark says but I fail to see the purpose in why he wrote it in the first place other than to pollute the minds of readers that city folk are undesirable monsters who frequent this beautiful haven with it in mind that they must stamp it out. Kill! Kill! Kill!

It would be a refreshing change to pick up the paper and read a few of the wonderful contributions that cottage people and their "Associations" and "FOCA" make, i.e. Mrs. Flanagan, 12 Mile Lake, cottager, who along with others successfully lobbied resulting in a very large reduction in hydro chemical spraying.

I invite Mr. Clark to the 12 Mile Boshkong Lake Association Meeting, Red Umbrella Lodge first Saturday in August. The first and foremost topic discussed is always on the environment and what can be done to protect it.

Mr. Clark's choice of words leaves a lot to be desired, quote, "...irresponsible, lake-polluting, bad mannered boaters and cottagers..." and; "Lake Associations can hardly be considered credible when their own members have been found to be the worst offenders."

Would it not be fair to say that although we are all identified as "humans" we as a race leave a lot to be desired. It's a very large job but obviously we as individuals must strive on a daily basis for improvement.

Murray Neave
12 Mile Lake

P.S. Let's hear the views of readers re. the lead poisoning deaths of thousands of wild life as a result of hunters using "lead shot" and let's also hear about some (not all) ice fishermen and women who contribute to pollution by putting materials down that hole (or out on the ice) other than hook, line and sinker.

Stimulation, that's what is required - stimulation.

The Times welcomes signed letters to the editor on subjects of interest to our readers. Short letters are most likely to be chosen for publication, but the use of any material is at the discretion of the editor. The editor reserves the right to edit letters to meet space requirements, for clarity or to avoid obscenity, libel or invasion of privacy.

Upon request, names may be withheld, but only very rarely and for compelling reasons. Letters published do not necessarily reflect the editorial policies or beliefs of this newspaper. All letters must bear the handwritten signature of the writer and include the address and phone number for verification purposes.

FOCA director puts things in perspective

Editor:

We wish to acknowledge your excellent coverage of The Federation of Ontario Cottagers' Association Spring Seminar on protecting watersheds in your May 3 edition.

Presentations covered: how the watershed works, how cottagers and development affect the environment, the new planning process recommendations, and how cottagers can make the new system work.

Two of your correspondents apparently object to sound planning, planning on a watershed basis, and protecting the environment. Too bad they weren't there. They missed a very educational program.

The first step to correcting situations and problems is education.

R. Harrison was commenting on the potential problems of uncontrolled development, suggesting that every lot will be developed in time.

One of your correspondents suggests that all of these lots being sold and developed is "plain stupidity". We can't figure out any objective an applicant might have other than to do just that.

Your correspondent has suggested that Mr. Harrison was spreading disinformation regarding severance activity in Haliburton County. The number is not 8,000 but 8,900 lots that have been created by severance that remain vacant today. That information was obtained from the Haliburton County Planning Department and has been checked twice.

What is called "scary hype" was an attempt by Harrison to put things into perspective. Those 8,900 lots (if located in one spot) are about the size of a new town, and that is a fact. If it gives any solace, he never said there was something terrible, awful, or scary about that. But, at some point, society is going to have to understand what it does mean, try to grasp the insidious demand this is going to place on infrastructure and on the environment and then, determine how and who is going to pay for it.

Your correspondent stated that she joined her lake association because she wanted a clean and beautiful lake. If she wishes to achieve that objective then start thinking watershed.

By the way, the Federation has always been a special interest group interested in: protecting the environment, fair taxation, proper planning, safe recreational boating, and the list goes on.

Thanks again.

Pond Inlet

by Jerry Grozelle

English language can be a mind-twister

There's a famous old Broadway song by George and Ira Gershwin that contains the plaintive lament:

*Eether, eyether,
Neether, nyether,
Let's call the whole thing off.*

The Gershwin boys had tapped into something that makes the English language one of the most baffling, infuriating - and delightful - adventures a human tongue can undertake.

Pronunciation. When it comes to English you might as well throw the rule book out the window. Although if it goes through and lands on a rough bough, try not to cough.

That last sentence used five words that end in 'ough'. Each one of them is pronounced differently.

And it's not just words ending in 'ough'. I grew up just down the street from a kid named Bruce Kahoon.

I thought.

I was astounded when I saw his last name written out properly. It was spelled Colquhoun.

I have two friends with the surname McKay, but one pronounces it Mac-Hi and the other says Mac-Hay.

Then of course there's MacLeod (pronounced Mac-lowd), and McKeown (pronounced Mick-

Black 'n White

by Arthur Black

Yew-en) and McLaughlin and McCullough and McEachern and ...

Well, you get the idea.

Some of the odd pronunciations are totally baffling. Others have perfectly good explanations. The story behind the Scottish name of Home, for instance. During the 16th century Battle of Flodden Field, Lord Home who was one of the Scottish nobles, tried to rally his troops to drive back the Sassenachs. Lord Home began waving a banner and shouting his name, "Home! Home! Home!"

His soldiers heard the shouts, thought is sounded like a good idea, turned on their heels and headed for home.

The story goes that the next day Lord Home decreed that the family name would henceforth be pronounced "Hyoom".

Not that the Scots have any corner on the wonky pronunciation sweepstakes. In Britain you can find the rather magnificent family moniker Cholmondeley. It's pronounced Chumley. There is also Magdalen College in Oxford. Pronounced Mawdlin.

And Worcester is Wooster, Leicester is Lester and Ulgham is Uff-im.

A place on the south coast of England called Mousehole should have a fairly straight forward pronunciation, should it not? We have mouseholes in Canada. Except the British one is pronounced Mow-zul.

Strange pronunciation can trip up even the pros.

There's a story told in the halls of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation concerning how the late, great Lorne Green early in his career as an announcer once bungled a weather forecast on CBC radio.

The script gave the highs and lows for an Ontario town called Kapuskasing. When Lorne read it, it came out "Ka-Pus-kasing."

Oh well, no surprise in a country that has a city spelled Toronto, but pronounced Trawnna, and a province spelled Quebec, but pronounced Kay-Bek.

Could be worse. We could have Spanish pronunciations to contend with, the way they do south of the border.

There's a story about a loud New York tourist stopping at a restaurant on the outskirts of Mexia, Texas, button-holing a waitress and braying, "Now lissen honey. I want you to say very slowly and clearly the name of the place we're in OK?"

The waitress says sure, takes a deep breath, looks right in the tourist's eyes and yells very carefully, "Daaaaaaaairy Queeeeeeceen."

Drainville explains independent decision

Editor:

I want to take this opportunity to explain the reasons for my decision to sit as an independent and to respond to some of the questions raised about my new status in parliament.

After two and a half years of trying to work within the system and improve it, I have concluded the current system does not work. Power lies in the hands of a small elite in the Premier's office while the individual MPP has almost no role. The individual member's concerns are supposed to be considered through the caucus system, but this system is ineffective. We need to make our system more democratic by allowing individual MPPs to play a more significant role and to better represent their constituents' concerns. However, my calls for parliamentary reform were completely ignored by the government.

The issue of casino gambling is a perfect example of the problem. Introducing casinos was not part of our electoral mandate and was the last thing that many of those who voted NDP expected this government to do. Yet there was no real consultation with either the public, the party or individual NDP MPPs before the major policy shift occurred.

In caucus, we were only allowed 45 minutes to discuss casinos, an impossibly short time for 73 members to have any input. The next time the issue came up, two months later, it was already written into the budget. As government members we were all expected to follow orders and support casinos publicly and in the House even though there had been no real consultation.

The lack of consultation and the abandonment of many of the NDP's traditional policies (casinos, Sunday shopping and auto insurance) finally convinced me that I no longer had a place in this NDP government. The heavy-handed response to caucus dissent was another major factor in my decision.

Some say that by standing up for my beliefs and leaving the government I have lost political influence. That might have been true if the caucus system worked and backbench members had any influence. I have found, much to my disappointment, that I had no real influence which could hardly be reduced by becoming an independent.

It is true that the legislature is currently organized around parties, not individuals. Independent members currently do not have the right to make Member's Statements, sit on a committee, or ask a question in Question Period. Of course, government backbenchers rarely have a chance to ask questions either (an independent can ask a question if another member offers to step aside during his or her turn, which happened two weeks ago when the Parry Sound MPP allowed me a supplementary question on casinos).

Despite these limits I have not lost my ability to speak out and represent the interests of Victoria-Haliburton. I can still speak during debates on bills during second and third reading, present petitions to the Assembly and rise on points of order and privilege. I will continue to present the concerns of local residents to the individuals and ministers which are responsible.

As an independent I have a greater freedom to act on matters of conscience such as the casino issue. I believe I will be better able to represent the views of my constituents now that I am free from party discipline.

Where limits do exist on the ability of independent members I have already begun the fight for change. I have written to the House Leaders of the three parties to ask them to allow independent members to have a greater voice. There is no reason why these restrictions, which are far more severe in Ontario than in other Canadian legislatures, are needed.

I believe that all MPPs, whether connected to a party or not, deserve the right to speak their minds. From what I hear, the people of Victoria-Haliburton also believe strongly in this principle.

This is not a question of Left or Right, but of allowing all members the ability to speak out on issues of conscience, to occasionally vote against their parties and to better represent their constituents.

People have to stand up and fight for these changes, even if it means rocking the boat a little. My decision to sit as an independent was a difficult step, but I believe it can help push Ontario in the right direction. Now that I am an independent member I will be pushing even harder to bring about parliamentary reform.

It is my conviction that the people of Victoria-Haliburton will be better served now that I am an independent. I look forward to continuing to work on issues that are of importance to you.

Students want recreation centre in Haliburton County

Editor:

It has come to the attention of the students of HSL 2G (Grade 10 History class) that Haliburton County does not offer enough recreational activities for its youth. We realize there are some activity areas available to us. Unfortunately they fail to meet the diverse interests of the student population.

We suggest that a Recreation Centre, complete with a swimming pool, an aerobics centre, gymnasium, and a community hall, would introduce a new lifestyle for teenagers. Presently we feel that Haliburton County can be boring at times and it is this boredom that turns us to alcohol and crime.

We have taken into consideration that a project of this magnitude would be a costly venture. However, with the support of local businesses and the fund raising efforts of students, numerous jobs would be created in the construction, maintenance and management of our Centre. Possibly an organization such as the YMCA would be interested in assisting our efforts. We have to start somewhere!

We believe that a Recreation Centre can be a reality. If you have any comments or suggestions relating to these ideas, please write to:

Three cheers for editorial on overpaid public employees

Editor:

Well, three cheers to whom ever wrote the editorial in the May 10 issue. One doesn't ever know who to blame or congratulate for editorials, as apparently, it isn't always the editor who writes them nor, for that matter, who reads the letters to the editor and puts such strange captions on them when published.

The taxpayers, not only in Canada, but throughout the world, have been saying for years that employees in the public sector are over paid and that there are far too many for the work turned out.

It is gratifying to see that the staff at your newspaper at least feels public employees are over paid.

Kormos praises Drainville for his tough position

Editor:

I am writing to you to respond to two letters (Stu Brandon, Embarrassed and Jim Battarbee, Congratulations Mr. Drainville) that appeared on May 3, 1993. Both writers contend that Dennis Drainville will have less influence now that he is no longer a Member of the government caucus.

From my experience I have to say that most backbench members have no real influence within the government. I doubt that Drainville's influence will be substantially reduced by sitting as an independent.

Because the Legislature is currently organized around political parties, not individuals, some limitations are imposed on independent Members. However, Drainville has already begun to fight to have the rules changed to make the system more democratic.

Drainville will now have the freedom to represent his constituents more openly, and perhaps more effectively. I can tell you that he is well respected at Queen's Park and I believe that he will continue to be able to provide the kind of service that the people of Victoria-Haliburton deserve.

In the period that I have served in the Legislature, very few Members have had the courage to risk their own political careers as a means of furthering the rights of the people they represent.

People have to stand up and fight for the things they believe in. Drainville has chosen to sit as an independent in order to better represent you, the people of Victoria-Haliburton, and I believe he will succeed in doing exactly that.

COSSA track

Good luck to all of the Haliburton Highlands track and field athletes competing in the Central Ontario track finals this Thursday. Results of that meet will be in the May 24 issue.

Briefs

Dozer goodies

The Haliburton County Snowmobile Association has been granted the use of a bulldozer for two weeks in lieu of a cash grant by Dysart council. HCSA president (and a Dysart councillor) Brian Watts said the association has identified 68 kilometers of trails which need to be upgraded and widened to become part of the TOPS trail system. Watts said about 50 per cent of the trails needing upgrades are in Dysart's municipality.

The cost of using and manning the bulldozer for two weeks is about $4,700, although Watts said he could get qualified personnel in place of the municipality's men and save additional money. The association is negotiating with the province for additional money to improve its trail system in the county.

Moose call

The deadline for applying for the 1993 adult moose validation tag draw has been extended to Friday, May 28 at 4:30 p.m. The two week extension will allow hunters to purchase their license, coordinate applications with other group members and submit them to the Ministry of Natural Resources. Hunters must have an Outdoors Card to buy a moose license and apply in the draw for one of 29,086 adult moose tags available.

The MNR is recommending that any hunter who has not applied for an Outdoors Card or has applied and is awaiting the card should visit an MNR district office and get a Temporary Outdoors Card. This temporary card will allow them to enter the moose draw. You must have valid proof (ie: a previous Ontario hunting licence or a hunting licence examination certificate) that you are a qualified Ontario hunter. More information is available at the Minden MNR office or by calling 286-1521.

Alcohol ban

Between May 14 and May 24 the following provincial parks are under an alcohol ban: Awenda, Balsam Lake, Bass Lake, Bon Echo, Craigleith, Darlington, Earl Rowe, Emily, Fitzroy, Ipperwash, Long Point, MacGregor Point, McRae Point, Pinery, Point Farms, Port Burwell, Presqu'il, Rideau River, Rock Point, Rondeau, Sandbanks, Sauble Falls, Serpent Mounds, Sibbald Point, Six Mile Lake, Turket Point and Wheatley. The good news is that parks are charging the same camping and day-use fees as last year.

And they're off

These four competitors in the midget boys 100 metre sprint heats react quickly to the gun as they race down the track at the Kawartha finals held in Peterborough last Thursday. Tim Stouffer (third from left) is the Haliburton Highlands Seconday School lone representative in this race. Stouffer didn't win, but he did come a respectable fourth. For all the results involving Haliburton county students and more pictures turn to page 12.

Girls soccer teams pound Bethany

Juniors win 8-0 while seniors score seven in victory

by Andy Holloway

The junior girls high school soccer team continued its hot play of late with an 8-1 victory over Bethany Hills at home last Friday.

Melanie Bradley led the way for the juniors with an amazing five goal performance. Pitching in with singles were Kathleen Van Leeuwen, Stacy Bunn and Marg Teljeur. Jennifer Dunford got the shut-out.

Coach Martha Steen also gave credit to the defence for playing a strong, well played game as well as to the entire team for not being lulled by a weaker Bethany Hills squad.

"They played very well position wise. Sometimes it's easy to be brought down to the level of a weaker team, but they didn't," said coach Steen.

The junior team's record now stands at 4-3 for the season.

Earlier in the week at a tournament in Lindsay the junior Redmen had two strong performances, but came up with just one win to show for it.

In their first game, the juniors lost 1-0 to Fenelon Falls in a close match. Coach Steen said the girls "just didn't seem to connect well on the balls they did get."

However, the team rebounded nicely to come out 3-0 winners against LCVI. Bradley had a pair of breakaway goals while Bunn added another on a 30 yard direct kick with a beautifully placed shot.

The junior girls enjoyed their first win of the season beating Bethany Hills 4-0 on May 4, after losing to I.E. Weldon earlier in the day by a score of 5-0. The juniors then went on to beat LCVI 2-1 that Friday.

As for the seniors they gave up a goal to Bethany Hills on Friday, but scored seven of their own.

Tobi Rowden scored a hat trick for the seniors while Kim Smith had a pair of goals and Candace Kennedy chipped in with a single.

Both the junior and senior teams will play this Tuesday at home against Fenelon Falls.

Redmen grab ten first place finishes

Craig Mann keeps a tight rein on his spin before releasing the discus in the junior boys event. Mann finished fifth overall.

(PETERBOROUGH) - Haliburton Highlands athletes ran into some strong opposition at last Thursday's Kawartha track finals, but did manage to grab 30 top three finishes.

Those finishing in the top three qualify for the Central Ontario finals this Thursday to be held at Trent University. Haliburton athletes had 10 first place finishes and 11 second place spots which has to be considered a very good team performance.

Leading the way for the Redmen was, as usual, Chris Greenfield who had two first place finishes, a tie for first and helped the Redmen 4x100 senior relay team capture first.

Greenfield finished first in the 200 metre and 400 metre runs and tied for first in the 100 metres. Greenfield's time of 22.1 seconds in the 200 metres beat his nearest rival by 0.7 seconds while his 400 metre time of 51.4 seconds beat the second place finisher by almost three seconds, but not a record.

Performances on the whole were off when compared to last year's meet. Only six records were broken or tied at the meet, compared with nine last year. Redmen athletes did not figure in any of the record performances.

For the girls, the triple jumpers came up with two first, Anna Tomlinson in the junior division and Jen Bradford in the seniors.

Other winners included Dustin Davis, Tim Stouffer, Craig Mann and Andy Bacon in a tie for first in the 100 metre dash.

Stouffer's win in the midget boys javelin was his highest placing in the event, but he did enter four events and did well in all of them despite not qualifying for the Central Ontario finals. Many of the Redmen competed in several events for their school.

The Redmen are to be congratulated on all their performances. Remember, an eighth place finish still means the athlete is eighth best in the Kawartha area - no small feat.

Signs like these should be paid attention to, but are unenforceable says a by-law officer.

Beware of ducks crossing roads

by Jerry Grozelle

Drivers are being warned to watch out for the ducks when they go down the Government Dock Road in Norland.

Several families of mallards have been using a hundred-foot stretch of road as a crosswalk between the Gull River and their nesting area in the park on the other side of the street.

Last year, at about this time, two ducks were killed by cars as they crossed the road. In an effort to prevent the same thing from happening again, Margaret LeCraw, who lives in the area where the ducks cross, made up signs and posted them on both sides of the crossing area.

LeCraw, who is the township's by-law enforcement officer and building inspector, said that the signs are unenforceable but they do seem to be slowing the traffic down a little.

"Maybe if they are nature lovers they will slow down," she said.

Most people who live in the area are aware of the fact that the ducks cross at that location.

"The signs are mostly for the tourists who don't know the ducks are there," LeCraw said.

Changes in effect at Algonquin

Algonquin Park users have spoken.

Users of the provincial park, which turns 100 years old this year, have been surveyed and a lot of them want less access for motorized transportation of any kind within the park.

Jet-skies, 4x4s and motorized boats were all singled out as unwanted elements of the park.

As a result of this public input into Algonquin Park master plan reviews, users should find the park a quieter place to be this summer.

* Waterskiing, jet-skiing and similar activities have been banned on all lakes.

* With the exception of Opeongo and Galeair Lakes, all lakes previously posted unlimited horsepower will be reduced to 20 hp, with exceptions made for park management and maintenance, conveyance of guests of youth camps and Bartlett Lodge, servicing of facilities and transportation of materials for the construction and maintenance of leaseholder buildings.

* Chainsaws, powersaws will be prohibited in the park between April 1 and Thanksgiving except those carrying out maintenance projects approved by the park superintendent

* Gasoline generators, radios, tape players and other listening devices are prohibited except in organized campgrounds or leaseholds between April 1 and Thanksgiving. Two way radios and walkmans are still allowed.

As well the following applies to people using areas within the park that are part of Haliburton County, namely Clyde, Bruton and Eyre

High school archers taking aim at finals

by Oliver Greer

Three members of the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School archery team are taking aim at the all-Ontario championships this year.

The team started off this year with about nine members and six of them went to the Kawartha championships, competing for HHSS.

At the Kawartha championships in the girls standard class competition, Suzie Forgrave placed first with a score of 350 out of a possible 600. This was Forgrave's first year of competition and her score at the competition was 25 points better than her personal best.

Also in the girls standard class competition, Kelly Cowen placed second with a score of 313 and Yvette Foster placed third with a score of 312 to give Haliburton a sweep in this class.

In boys standard class Cam Berry placed first with a score of 433.

In boys compound limited class Jeff Oitment placed third with a score of 534 and Jarett Gentle placed sixth with a score of 508.

In order to qualify for competition at the all-Ontario level, an archer must have reached a standard score in a tournament. The entries had to be in this year before the HHSS team really had a chance to get started, so the only members who could qualify for the tournament were those who had reached the standard score last year. Every one on the team reached a high enough score to compete if there had been time to place their entries.

As it turned out only Foster, Berry and Gentle will be competing. Based on last year's result, all three team members hope to break into the top 15 in fields of at least 50. Berry hopes to place in the top 10 out of the 60 archers expected to attend. Last year in all Ontario competition Foster placed 27th and Berry placed 12th.

High school badminton duo fall short in St. Catharines

The successful run by local badminton pair Jonathon Bishop and Lindsay Francis ended in St. Catharines over the May 8th weekend as they ran into more experienced players at the Ontario finals.

The high school duo was competing in mixed doubles, the only players from Haliburton to attend the finals. All three games were played and lost against older players, one team from Bleinham and two from Toronto.

However, next season looks bright as Bishop and Francis will probably return and a bumper crop of junior players should also help the senior squad.

The juniors had six medalists at the Central Ontario finals held three weeks earlier.

Yep, it's that time of year again. The boys and girls of summer are back into the swing of things as the Minden minor baseball season begins another year.

Terry Fox run organizers looking for Minden volunteers

It has been 13 years since Terry Fox had to end his Marathon of Hope outside Thunder Bay.

Terry passed away in June, 1981, but he left a tremendous legacy which lives on through the Annual Terry Fox Run. Millions of Canadians have embraced his dream as their own, raising over $100million for innovative cancer research.

Noted Canadian researchers have said that there has been more progress in cancer research over the past decade than in the previous millennium.

The Terry Fox Foundation Office is seeking an individual, family or group in Minden to organize a Terry Fox run on Sunday, September 19.

A release from the office states that their present coverage of Terry Fox runs in this area is weak and that they are "most anxious to find more volunteer Run Organizers" as they work towards the 13th annual run.

Call 1-800-387-1200 for more information on how to sign up.

Season opener

Pee wees take to the field tonight for first of 10 games

Summer has finally spread its warm comfort into the Highlands and tonight in Minden about 100 young athletes will head to the diamonds for their first taste of the season's finest game.

The Minden Minor Baseball season gets underway tonight with two games at the ball diamonds behind the arena. To avoid conflict with a school trip, squirt league games have been rescheduled for this Wednesday. However, the two pee wee games are still a go for tonight, 8 p.m. under the lights.

This mixed, recreational ball league has prospered since its inception three years ago. This season there will be more than 300 players on 28 teams ranging from junior T-ball to pee wee. League organizers are confident of another fun-filled season. They have been meeting irregularly since last summer in preparation for tonight's start-up. The umpires are ready, the coaches are ready, and most of all the players are ready.

Minor ball will occupy the diamonds for three nights each week for the next 10 weeks. Minor baseball nights in Minden are Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Minden, Canada wins

While the Stanley Cup playoffs are still going, and going and going, it's never too late for a hockey picture. The Atom Minden Monarchs submitted this photo of their winning pose after taking the championship in a tournament held in Meadville, Pennsylvania back in March. While they were officially representing Minden, you can see the boys also had thoughts of Canada on their minds as well.

Ground was broken last week for the 11,000 square foot Ridgewood Ford show room and service facility. The new complex, located on Highway 35 across from the Prince Street intersection, will create indoor show room space and vehicle service bays. The owner of Ridgewood Ford, (formerly Frontier Motors), Larry Moynes, centre, examines the work in progress while excavation supervisor Bryan Kernohan points out an aspect of the project and general contractor Rod Thurston, right, looks on. The building is expected to be completed in September.

Downtown Haliburton businesses voice concerns over 'transient traders'

by Andy Holloway

Owners of 25 downtown Haliburton businesses say they do not want "transient traders" allowed to operate in the village without a permit or on municipal property.

Les Ferro, representing 25 downtown businesses, but not the BIA, told Dysart council that portable, seasonal businesses are "stealing money from our pockets".

"I pay a ton of taxes and so do the rest of these businesses and we do not want these people using municipal property," said Ferro.

The group has no problems with allowing service groups and charitable organizations operating such concession stands, but is against vendors who only operate in the summer time, the Haliburton area's peak business season.

Ferro also said fees are not high enough to discourage such business and that council should show "a little bit of compassion" for its year round operators.

"The fees of between $150 and $500 are not high enough, that's a drop in the bucket. $500 can be made in one day, or even part of a day, whereas during the other eight months when I pay taxes it takes a lot longer than that."

So far, Dysart has not allowed anyone to operate a concession stand on municipal property and has no plans to do so, although it could if it wished.

"Historically, this council has refused people permission to sell goods on municipal property and that practice still carries on," said councillor Lloyd Leadbeater.

Ferro said downtown businesses will be educated on the township's rules and their rights about portable vendors.

Two weeks ago a person was selling in front of a store on the main street and when asked to leave just moved to the end of the street said Ferro. A township bylaw official was there, but did not issue a ticket.

Vendors are not permitted within 150 feet of any permanent existing, similar business and are not allowed in Head Lake Park.

Coby businesses protest sewer hookup fees

by Jerry Grozelle

Members of the Coboconk business community ran into a brick wall when they made a last-ditch effort to change the fee structure for connection to the new sewer system.

Jim Hannivan, representing about 20 businesses in Coboconk, appealed to Somerville Council last week to "take your figures, scrap them and start over."

Hannivan's argument is that the system is unfair to the businesses because they produce less waste than the average household and are required to pay more of the cost.

"Were you aware that 20 main street businesses are being asked to pay for 40 per cent of the cost of the sewer system?" Hannivan asked.

The new sewer project in Coboconk is a closed system. That means that every property within the boundaries of the system has to be connected.

Several examples of why the business community feels short-changed in the sharing of sewer costs were presented.

"One property owner renovated an apartment in his building and changed it into a small showroom displaying aluminum siding. He reduced his sewage output but this unfair law increased his sewer bill from $4,200 to over $10,000," Hannivan said.

He pointed out that the sewer system in Coboconk was built to solve a pollution problem that was created by leaking septic systems (both residential and commercial) in the village.

"Were you aware that only three businesses had septic tanks?" Hannivan asked council. "All the others use holding tanks, which are not a pollution problem."

"Why don't you include the cottage owners on Balsam Lake, who will benefit from less pollution in their water?" he added.

Hannivan suggested that council consider who the business people of Coboconk are.

"They are your neighbours, struggling to survive in small businesses, averaging only three or four employees (more on page 23)"

Somerville reeve defends sewer costs at public meeting

ees," he said. "Very few businesses in small towns earn as much as a family where two members work at Hydro, Bell, CN Rail or General Motors, and most earn considerably less. These are small family run businesses and they cannot afford this unfair price.

"Are the councils (of Somerville and Bexley) trying to drive us out of town? Did you know that a business pays 60 per cent more taxes than a comparable residence and gets fewer services?" Hannivan questioned.

"Remember that banks, post offices, schools and businesses have left other small towns. Our large employers have already left Coboconk. We have a high proportion of empty stores and high unemployment. Our only employers are the small businesses now. If you continue to penalize businesses, Coboconk will have no stores and no jobs."

"I totally object to your statement that councils are trying to drive businesses out of Coboconk," Somerville Reeve John Huke protested.

"Well, that's the way the business people feel," Hannivan replied.

Huke pointed out that the sewer project was initiated eight or nine years ago and that the cost of hooking up was estimated to be in the neighbourhood of $1,500 per household.

He said that after he was elected, he attended the last public meeting in Coboconk on the subject of the sewer project and he was dismayed to find that the detailed costing would see householders pay more than $4,000, almost three times the original figure. Huke added that the figures applying to commercial users were available at that time and nobody raised any objections at that meeting.

"Somerville representatives on the liaison committee have kept our council up to date as much as possible on this very complex and frustrating exercise," Huke said. "The Somerville council has been unanimous in all deliberations on this project."

Hannivan also challenged the wisdom of accepting the consultant's recommendation to charge hookup fees on the basis of assessment rather than any one of several formulas that the Ministry of Environment uses in similar situations. Some of the MOE formulas calculate the user cost based on the frontage along the pipeline, for example; or on the square footage of the lot which is being serviced.

Hannivan said that he has been trying to find out the exact formula that was used, with no luck. He was given the name of the consultant, who has the figures he is looking for.

The business people of Coboconk have retained the services of a law firm in Toronto which specializes in municipal law. Hannivan told council that the lawyers advised the group that "the rate structure is probably not legal because it is so blatantly unfair."

Councillor Clayton Cameron explained that previous councils looked at other methods of sharing the costs. He said that one formula that the MOE uses would have been prohibitive to the owners of the hotel. A figure of $35,000 was mentioned.

"The amount of waste has nothing to do with this," Cameron said. He added that the system would have to be metered to calculate rates based on usage.

Hannivan suggested that a better method of determining cost would be to treat everyone, residential and commercial, equally. He said that if that were the case, the hookup cost for everybody would be in the area of $4,800.

Service charges once the system is connected have yet to be established, but Hannivan doesn't want to see the same formula applied to those charges as well. He had figures from Bobcaygeon and Fenelon Falls to show that they have a more equitable system of charging for the service, in his opinion.

"We want to know where we stand," Hannivan said.

"We've done our best," Huke replied. "We've made a decision and we're going to stick with it."

As he got up to leave, Hannivan said: "I'm disappointed that we have to take legal action."

School board formulating its own race relations policy

The Haliburton county school board is formulating its own multicultural/race relations policy and while there is no hurry to finish the policy, its outcome could have a large effect on how teachers and students operate.

Superintendent of education Dale Robinson said the policy is needed to let students and staff know where they stand on racial issues.

Robinson said there is not much of a problem in this county because it is fairly uniform, but problems may arise when students are on field trips with other students from more urban areas where the racial mix of people is much greater.

"Our students don't see too many students of a different culture and when they do some strange things may occur," said Robinson.

The education committee is looking at the race relations policy adopted by the Victoria County School Board as a guideline to set up their own policy.

The VCBE policy states, "It is the policy of the Victoria County Board of Education to condemn and refuse to tolerate any expression of racial, ethnic, or cultural bias in any form by its students, staff, trustees, or school visitors."

However, trustee Lloyd Griffiths said he is concerned that what is actually kids play will be misinterpreted as racial discrimination.

"A lot of the things said in the yard is kid to kid, not racial. I read this thing and children and teachers would never want to open their mouths about anything," said Griffiths.

Some of the problems that the VCBE policy spell out include, name calling, teasing or jokes, slurs and insults, graffiti, composition or distribution of derogatory material and vandalism. In addition, even if students or teachers do not do anything they may be charged with creating a racial incident. For example, if a student sees an incident, but fails to prevent it or to report it, it implies approval of the event states the policy.

In addition the policy spells out hiring policies that state the board hire the best candidate for the job, but that consideration be given to any multicultural imbalance in the system. However, race can only be the deciding factor if all other things are equal. The policy does not address the lack of male teachers in the elementary school system.

Cutting education costs only hurts the students

Editor:

In response to Archie Dobbins' letter in the May 10 edition of The Times: I am a student at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School and I feel that I have every right to the best education that our province has to offer.

Cutting costs in education would be a very big mistake for students in our area. If schools are overcrowded then we need to provide more space with additions. We need equipment, such as computers, to prepare us for work in the 21st century. Also, our school board is only able to attract high quality teachers by offering them appropriate salaries.

Teachers, who need at least a bachelor's degree, are highly trained individuals. They also contribute greatly to the tax system.

Before you criticize teachers further, perhaps you should spend a few days in a school. You may then realize that a teacher's job is harder than you think.

Please let us know how things go in Costa Rica.

Emily Henderson
Student, HHSS

Teachers are overpaid, police force is not

Editor:

I found your editorial somewhat naive. The comparison of teachers, police, Bell, and Ontario Hydro workers possibly all being overpaid doesn't make sense. Our police force is on call 24 hours a day, 52 weeks of the year and serves 100 percent of the population. Ontario Hydro and Bell do a similar service even though they are overpaid. Teachers, on the other hand serve only a fraction of the population and are unlike the professions in that their salaries come mostly from the local tax base.

Yes! I quite believe there were some smiling faces in the crowd at Friday's parade. I'd be smiling too if I had three or four kids at school and maybe paying residential taxes at a low rate or not at all. Yes, some people have a good reason to smile as many others are paying high taxes sometimes on a home or cottage and not using the education system at all! There's no doubt where your sympathies lie, Mr. Editor, but let's have a few more facts, like what is the average full-time high school teacher's salary? I'm sure people would like to know this.

You editor's note after Mr. Dobbins' letter was quite unnecessary. Mr. Dobbins didn't say there was a 30 percent tax hike in 1993 as you indicated. He said possibly a 30 percent next year and his estimate of "$78,000 in a few cases" could be not far off when you consider value of benefits. The teaching profession has enjoyed reverence from the public for the past 20 or 30 years and it must be hard for them to accept criticism as they have had to do over the past year or two, but these are changing times and editorials like last week's won't make the problem go away.

The pitfalls of wooing the opposite sex

Now that spring is in the air, I feel it is only fair that I share some of my vast well of experience (I have personally spoken to over four girls in my lifetime) with those who have trouble winning the affections of the opposite sex.

The first thing I always suggest people do is watch as many "Happy Days" reruns as possible because, hey, the Fonz is one smooth operator. Don't be afraid to take notes.

First impressions are always important. On your first meeting try to make light conversation about topics of mutual interest. A couple of topics you may want to shy away from are how much you wish your last girlfriend/boyfriend hadn't ditched you. And if you are a male, anything to do with cars or football is taboo. If you are a female you can talk about almost anything else because the guy will still be too busy thinking "Wow, I can't believe she's talking to me," to hear you anyway.

On your first, or any, date try to dress in accordance with your surroundings. Remember: coveralls at the opera are no worse than a tux at a hog calling contest.

The location and activities for the first date are very important. It is usually best to restrict yourself to something simple like a movie or dinner. The reason I say this is because if you fly someone to Hollywood to watch the filming of Gone With the Wind, it's gonna be pretty tough to maintain the same level of excitement on the second date.

Some other activities you may want to steer clear of on the first date are cult ceremonies, active participation in a rodeo and "the Big Monster Truck/Mudwrestling Extravaganza" over at the fairgrounds (unless the date is taking place in Alabama).

Dancing can often be an enjoyable pastime for a first date but it is important to stress that you should try to choose a style of dancing and music which will be enjoyable for both of you. Tossing a timid ballroom dancer into the centre of a pack of "Sex Pistols" crazed slam dancers could result in a bad first impression not to mention rather costly lawsuits.

I've always found that it is also best to avoid any live band with the word "polka" in the name.

Oliver's Twist

by Oliver Greer

A large part of the stress involved in a first date, for young men at least, is the dreaded meeting of the parents. Here are four easy steps to help get you through the experience: 1. Never make eye contact, they'll see the fear in your eyes. 2. Try not to openly weep. 3. If the girls father makes you arm wrestle with him, let him win even if you could beat him. 4. If asked a question which you don't think you should answer regarding, say, your number of convictions, simply excuse your self to use the washroom and climb out the window.

Step four may cause the girl some minor trauma, but trust me, it's nothing compared to what she would experience if she had to watch her father put you in the Boston Crab.

Okay, it's time I came clean. I can't lie to you any more. The truth is I'm nowhere near as cool as the Fonz. I do have a great girlfriend but it is through no skill or understanding of females on my part.

I guess I'm just lucky and although I'm young and don't know as much about the subject as many people, I think is the bottom line. You can't make the right person come along. If it's going to happen it will so don't worry and try to have fun and meet people in the mean time.

Making merry with the Gerries

Have you met the Gerries," my friend asked me upon arrival in Victoria, British Columbia.

"Gerries?"

"Yeah, you know Gerries."

It took a while, but it was soon discovered that Gerries is a rather impolite term for anyone over 50.

Gerries...Geriatrics.

And so began my journey through the western portion of this grand land, with the realization that Victoria, B.C., is a lot like Haliburton or Minden, but there are more old people - not per capita, but in sheer numbers.

It seems a large number of Ontario's very affluent seniors choose to retire, not in Haliburton County as many suspect, but as far away as possible. This should not have surprised me as much as it did seeing as how the weather is never too cold or too hot and gardening gets more press coverage than any sport or recreation, but it did.

The local papers are filled with the exploits of our senior citizens, some good, some not so good.

Like the story about an elderly man not being allowed to stand trial for running over another person. It seems the man backed his car over the curb, through a park and over someone who was peacefully enjoying the scenery. The man, however, does not have to stand trial because, as it turns out, he suffers

Hospital committee called unworthy of trust

Editor:

On April 20, the members of the Planning and Development Committee proved themselves unworthy of the trust placed in them by those people requiring long-term care. They also proved to the taxpayers, the District Health Council, and Queen's Park that another method of dealing with the health needs of Haliburton County must be found. This committee has produced a recommendation entirely at odds with its mandate. On what basis did they make their decision? The rhetoric varies, but in general the need to spend the $700,000 originally raised for the cancelled chronic care addition to Haliburton Hospital and to provide additional services for the eastern half of the county seem to predominate the thought processes of those seven committee members, five of whom either live or work in Haliburton Village.

Since the original 18-bed addition to the Haliburton Hospital was cancelled, and the province changed the direction of health care in this province, we have had citizens requiring some form of long-term care waiting for something to be done. This committee has just prolonged the agony by condemning them to wait until an additional $1,600,000 can be raised in Haliburton County to meet the price tag of placing 30 beds onto the Haliburton Village Hospital. A price tag of $4,597,000, according to the experts hired by this committee. This does not include the acquisition of two additional lots beside the hospital, required to accommodate the addition.

If the committee truly had the concerns of our aging population at heart they could start building now, at Hyland Crest, a County of Haliburton owned and managed facility which ranks as one of the better facilities in Ontario. The point is, there is enough money to build now. We have $2,300,000 from the province, $266,000 pledged from County Council, $125,000 pledged from the Minden Rotary Club, and the $700,000 donated for the chronic care bed project in Haliburton, a total of $3,391,000. The total cost for placing these beds attached to Hyland Crest, a Haliburton County facility, is $2,968,000, again according to the experts retained by the Planning and Development Committee. Based on the one-third, two-third rule applied to provincial funding for such projects, the community will have to raise $989,333.33 or about $101,666.70 less than we already have.

Now, before the seven members of the committee allied to the Haliburton Hospital alternative start screaming, let's consider the $700,000 of which approximately 48 percent was raised by the west half of Haliburton County. This money was raised for an addition to the Haliburton Hospital of 18 chronic care beds; a worthy project that was cancelled when Queen's Park changed the program; however, in order to get this project off the ground before the next election this money could be used for the more economical opportunity of placing the long-term care beds into Hyland Crest on the understanding that a fundraising drive to replace it would be undertaken by the Planning and Development Committee. This would indeed be teamwork. It would show Queen's Park that this county can work together to obtain a cost effective, workable solution in tough times. A solution that will cost $1,600,000 less to build and $160,000 per year less to operate than the one chosen by the committee.

Unfortunately, some members of the Planning and Development Committee could not get past their me-first attitude. Some members of the Planning and Development Committee cannot get past their anger at Queen's Park for cancelling the chronic care addition. Some members of the Planning and Development Committee would seem to prefer that Queen's Park take away this funding just as they did for the chronic care beds because we haven't shown them we can plan effectively.

My fear is that if we do not show Queen's Park that we can work together in Haliburton County to achieve cost effective solutions that fall within our budget, then we will not receive funding to do anything.

My hope is that the members of the Planning and Development Committee can overcome their me-first attitude, admit their error, tell Queen's Park that we have the money to complete this project on Hyland Crest now, tell Queen's Park to fulfill their pledge and let's get started.

Why wait another four years? Why take a chance that this project too gets cancelled because Queen's Park decides to change the program? Let's do it now.

from Parkinson's, Alzheimer's and Dementia. Yet he was deemed fit enough to keep his driver's license by the B.C. government.

The man's lawyer asked the judge to rescind the man's driving license at the pre-trial. Well, I should hope so.

Another situation saw a wheelchair-bound man zoom down a ramp at a downtown shopping centre, make a sharp left turn and plow right through a glass barrier dividing a bank from its instant teller machines. Glass went flying everywhere, but no one paid too much attention. It seems events like these are pretty common-place and can be ignored.

However, there were many other similarities between this county and Victoria, besides being a retirement haven and the lack of people between the ages of 20 and 40.

Just like this county, there is widespread distrust of teachers and their demands. However, it may be a bit more justified. In Vancouver, teachers make an average of $51,000 and have had salary increases averaging seven per cent for the past four years. Now they want another increase amounting to about six per cent over two years.

Understandably, the local board of education balked and the teachers went on a paper strike refusing to do anything that requires paperwork like grading tests, writing report cards and taking attendance. Now they are on a full strike. In other areas, similar things are about to occur or are already underway.

But it's not all bad on the west coast. For example, Victoria is hilly in topography, but flat in terms of building structures. The hills account for the rather muscular legs of the average Victorian, many of whom carry what appear to be watermelons protruding from their calfs. The tallest structures were the mountains, although the hotels were the biggest buildings -- but even they were pretty short.

There was even a street called Haliburton Street on the way from the airport, but there doesn't seem to be a Minden Street - figures.

And if feel you like moving out there, you better have a lot of cash.

The average house costs about $250,000 - just a little bit higher than a cottage in Ontario.

Chaos or Contol: What's happening in the schools?

by Russ Duhaime

Mr. Hill never used the strap. The heavy wooden ruler stowed away in the top drawer of his desk was far more effective. It made infrequent appearances, flashing hot across the outstretched hands of insolent boys and girls. And although the burning sting in the palms dissolved in minutes, the image of Mr. Hill flailing the 12-inch measuring stick was the stuff of school-yard lore.

Cruel? Maybe, but definitely effective. Discipline was not a problem in any of Mr. Hill's classes. With feet evenly planted on the floor, his grade 3 students sat in silent rows, studying from texts and neatly printing between the blue and red lines in a work book.

This is what I remember of school. Silent halls and silent classrooms, and plenty of studying.

Over at Archie Stouffer Elementary School and at schools across the country, the traditional image of the hushed and studious classroom has been transformed into what looks to the untrained eye like chaos. Chatter from many of the classrooms rings throughout the bustling hallways. Students rummage through lockers, or work in groups at tables or even on the floor outside the rooms. The school is blur of activity.

Many of today's classrooms are filled with gab; instead of rows, the desks are arranged into groups, teachers don't sit at their desks, and use of the strap is forbidden.

It's no wonder the education system is under attack. Anyone who has had cause to visit the school will certainly have noticed that things are . . . things are, well . . . different.

With so much activity and no apparent supervision, how can anyone possibly be learning? The schools look more like self-contained communities of rowdy youths than learning institutions.

Appearances, however, are deceiving. There is supervision, there is discipline, and most of all there is plenty of work going on.

Two weeks ago I convinced grade 3 teacher Kathy Adams to allow me to sit for an afternoon in her classroom. What I saw was indeed very different from what I remember of Mr. Hill's classes.

Initially, it appeared that the students were randomly working at whatever they pleased. They were working in groups of two at desks scattered throughout the small room. Instead of standing at the blackboard or sitting behind her desk, the teacher worked the room from one group to the next, checking on the students and offering help. This, I was told, was their spelling class.

Spelling? But where were the texts? Where were the workbooks? How can you learn to spell without texts and workbooks?

Well, Adams was trying something new that week, something called peer tutoring. This is where students pair up to help each other overcome their troublesome words.

Jamie Collis and Matt Kenny explained to me how this works. Each week they each make up a master list of 50 words they have trouble spelling. They study 10 words each week trying to remember the combination of letters and then they test each other. They continue to work with the list until they've got it nailed down. Jamie and Matt agree it's a lot more fun than memorizing words from a text and there's a lot less pressure.

This peer tutoring thing allows the kids to work at their own levels. They pick the words they're having trouble with rather than letting a textbook do it for them. The element of teamwork boosts their enthusiasm and confidence. But does it work? Well, both Jamie and Matt scored 10 out of 10 on their tests that day.

Off in the corner of the room, a student is working alone. She's just finished her test and the results weren't quite what she had hoped for. "I get sort of messed up with there, their and they're," she says. "They're all sort of the same." She wants to do better on tomorrow's test.

With so much independent work, it takes a great deal of organization and planning for the teacher to be able to track the students' progress. Although there appears to be little structure to the lesson, beneath the veneer is a system of recording and testing that allows Adams to know how hard each student is working and how he or she is progressing.

Peer tutoring is just one method of teaching used in Adams classes. She uses a variety of teaching styles, as do many of the teachers at her school. In fact, some of the teachers at ASES prefer to teach in the traditional fashion with straight rows, raised hands and lots of textbooks. It's a myth that traditional teaching methods have been abandoned, says Adams. "It's not all this way. There are still a lot of traditional classrooms and some that are a mix of both."

It's all a matter of preference, says Adams. One method is not necessarily better than another. Teachers choose a style that works for them and go with it.

Kids in the Hall

Recently, The Times has received a number of letters from people expressing disillusionment about the state of our school system. A major complaint seems to be that with busing, hot lunches and the other improvements modern students enjoy, too much money is being spent on unneeded luxuries. With this in mind we asked a random sampling of Haliburton Highlands Secondary School Students "Do you think that, as a student, you have things easier than your parents did when they were in school?" These are their responses.

Jamie Fryer

It may have been physically more demanding for our parents, having to walk to school and stuff, but I think we have more academic pressure.

Norm Ramie

Yes, because things have changed due to more industrialization and new teaching methods.

Andy Bacon

School itself is harder because there is a lot more pressure put on students about marks and going to university or college.

Kerry Pollard

For sure. We have better transportation and improved teaching methods.

Jason Parish

In a way it was harder because they had the strap and everything. Teachers were more violent.

Sunoco pulls up its stakes

*Sign of the times
as gas giant leaves Carnarvon
after 29 years*

The familiar blue and yellow sign at Fletcher's Garage in Carnarvon no longer swings gently in the breeze. Almost 29 years after the Sunoco sign went up, it was quickly and quietly trundled away on the back of a pick-up last week.

Sunoco Inc. pulled out of Carnarvon last week and company downsizing - the buzz word of much of today's economic woes - is to blame.

"The company is rationalizing its operations. Some of the smaller volume sites that don't fit into Sunoco's future direction are being divested, unfortunately," said Dave Ducharme, Sunoco's Market Manager for Ontario North.

Owner Bob Fletcher, a quiet man at the best of times, had little to say when the sign came down.

"Maybe a little strange," was all he said when asked how he felt.

As a class 'A' mechanic in Toronto, Fletcher moved to Carnarvon 29 years ago with his wife Nikki and bought the garage. They quickly became a local fixture and in the years that followed, Fletcher catered to locals and cottagers alike, only recently giving up the repair end of the business.

But even though the signs are gone, the pumps are still pumping. Sunoco Inc. sold Fletcher the pumps and some equipment so he could continue to operate the station. In fact, they will continue to supply him with fuel as long as he wants to buy it.

How long that will be depends on the future.

"I haven't decided yet," said Fletcher.

Sign of the times

Twenty-nine years ago Bob Fletcher and his wife Nikki moved to Carnarvon and bought a garage. Now, longtime partner Sunoco Inc. has left, but it is still business as usual at the garage.

Funeral home opens

Former Dysart Reeve Murray Fearrey and current office-holder Chris Hodgson shared the honours Friday evening as they assisted in the official opening of the Haliburton Community Funeral Home. The ribbon cutting took place at a service of dedication held at the new premises on Highway 118 west of Haliburton Village. A large crowd was on hand to tour the refurbished building and witness the opening. Reeve Hodgson praised the owners of the facility for the results of the renovation and because they used local suppliers and contractors to complete a large part of the work. He said the new business was a welcome addition to the community. The county now has two funeral services. Sharing in the opening ceremony were, from the left, Pastor Gordon Walsh, Lori Lloyd, funeral director Dwain Lloyd, Reeve Hodgson and former Reeve Murray Fearrey, the owner of the funeral home Bob Addison and Clara Addison.

Minden OPP wants to open up community police system

by Andy Holloway

The following brief items were discussed at Stanhope council last Wednesday.

Community cops

Minden OPP have asked council to reconsider its proposal for a community-based policing system. Sergeant Doug Bernardi said the OPP does not expect Stanhope to build its own police station because there is not a central town for the community. However, he said a prevention and information sharing system would benefit both parties. Currently, Minden, Haliburton and Dorset have received community police stations which operate with varying degrees of success.

Bernardi said he attended a community policing meeting in Dunsford that renewed his interest in establishing a system in Stanhope. Stanhope would not have to open a station, but could help set programs like a crime alert program which would alert area businesses to various criminal activity in order to protect themselves.

"There are different things you can accomplish rather than jumping in full force. There are no set rules or things you have to have. It's can be an open structure and you work on it and build it how much you want," said Bernardi.

The first step would be to establish a councillor as a liaison between the OPP and a police committee which would operate separate from council. Businesses would be the nucleus of the committee, but there should be a fair representation of the community, said Bernardi. One business owner would be needed to co-ordinate and spearhead the committee.

Council said it would consider the matter if there was a good level of interest shown by the area's businesses.

Highland high jinks

The name game over two Highland Roads continues. Minden council decided in April not to change the name of its Highland Road to anything, but Highland Road West because of the business interests of the Highlands Motel. A letter from Minden council also stated that there are often several similar sounding streets in larger centres.

However, Stanhope sent a letter to the Ministry of Transportation saying this was not acceptable and that the interests of the general population should take precedence over any one interest. The two roads are both in Stanhope's fire coverage area and both intersect Highway 35.

Compost cure

Stanhope will be offering 650 Earth Machine composters for sale this Saturday at its municipal offices for only $15. The sale is only for residents of the township and happens between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. The office is located on North Shore Road. The composters are partly funded by the Ministry of the Environment.

Tax take

A Stanhope business has had its property taxes lowered because no business had taken place on the site during 1992. Camp Calumet Limited will receive a tax break of more than $3,700.

Stanhope briefs

The Assessment office ruled that because no business had taken place on the property, Calumet could not be billed a business tax. In addition, the assessment on the property reverts to residential rates, which are substantially lower, when no business happens. The business tax break is worth about $2,400 while the residential status gives a tax break of about $1,200. 1993 property taxes will be adjusted accordingly.

New student president wants council changes

By Oliver Greer

According to next years Student Council president at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School, the 93-94 council will be all about change and making council more accessible to students.

Jim Dewey says he chose to run for the position of student council president because he enjoys working with people. He said he would like to make a difference, and he felt change was needed for the student council system at HHSS.

The main concern is to make council and its members more familiar and less foreign for students, says Dewey. This will provide students with more access to student council and allow them to express any ideas, views or opinions they may have.

"Even I don't know all the member's well enough to approach them with ideas," says Dewey speaking of this year's council. Although it is almost impossible to know every one in a school, Dewey says it is next year's council's responsibility to get out among the students and do the best they can.

Dewey says he and fellow council members will attempt to do this by getting direct input from students. The council should be known as a whole as well as individuals so that students can approach them with ideas or just to say "hey what are you doing?"

Going out when necessary and speaking with people is also very important, says Dewey, because they may not always come to you. You can't always sit back and hope that people come to you with their ideas. Sometimes you have to actively pursue input. He also says because he is new it will take some experimenting. Not everything is going to work and overexposure can be just as bad.

"I don't want people to think I'm trying to get in on everything," says Dewey

Dewey also says that things like announcements could use a little livening up to better get student interest. The announcements now are fine and get the information across but with a little more life maybe they would get more response. All these ideas may not work but it's definitely worth a try, says Dewey.

Canada Day country concert coming together

The following items were briefly addressed at the May 13 meeting of Anson, Hindon and Minden Council:

In Concert

Details of the Canada Day country and western concert are gradually being ironed out and organizers will be meeting with municipal staff this week to sew up a few loose ends.

Rick Lowes, who is organizing this concert in conjunction with John Mattsson, attended Thursday's meeting, chiefly to get support for their liquor licence application. In the bargain, he was confronted with questions surrounding parking and access to the fair grounds.

Reeve Bern Berry said council is enthusiastic about the concert. He wondered, though, if parking arrangements have been settled. He noted that there will be a craft sale at the community centre that day and said parking could be a problem if it's not properly co-ordinated. If, for example, the parking area is filled by those attending the concert, it will hamper attendance at the craft sale.

Lowes agreed there will have to be some co-ordination in order to avoid conflict. The majority of the parking for the concert will be on the fair grounds property, he said. He will be meeting with municipal staff tomorrow to discuss this in further detail.

The concert itself is coming together very well, said Lowes. He said he has a verbal commitment from the Rankin Family to perform at the day-long concert. He and Mattsson have also spoken with several other acts, but nothing is confirmed at this point.

Building agreement

After a year and a half in office, Council signed its first site plan agreement for a development in Minden. And then they signed two more.

"This council has never signed any site plan agreements," Reeve Bern Berry noted. "Tonight there's three."

The first agreement was for the construction of the addition to Archie Stouffer Elementary School. The tendering process for this project is being finalized and construction is expected to begin this summer.

The second agreement was for an addition to General Lee's on Highway 35. Owners are opening a Subway outlet on the premises and adding 1,700 square feet of office space.

The final agreement was for a new parking area at the Red Umbrella Inn.

Fair tax problem

Councillor Jean Anthon's efforts to get council input into the Fair Tax Commission's deliberations were again met with reluctance from fellow councillors.

Anthon had prepared a resolution asking the province not to shelve the commission's draft report. Other councillors, however, refused to support the resolution because they are unsure of what will appear in the final report.

Councillor Gerald Rome said he would be willing to help draft a letter of support to the commission. However, he did not think a resolution was appropriate.

Threat

A 32-year-old Haliburton man has been charged with uttering threats after police concluded an investigation into an incident on May 5. Jonathon Hicks is scheduled to appear in Minden court on June 16.

Dysart, Snowdon pass agreement

by Andy Holloway

The following brief items were discussed at Dysart council last Monday.

Fire follies end

The municipalities of Dysart and Snowdon finally agreed to a fire protection arrangement for 1993. The agreement was the final part of Snowdon's fire coverage puzzle.

The township came to terms with Minden and Somerville earlier this year. Dysart will now receive $6,500 for standby duties (up from $3,500 in 1992), $300 for the first hour of any fire call and $150 for each hour after that. Last year Snowdon paid $250 for the first hour and $150 for each additional hour.

Snowdon did request that the terms be put in a two-year contract to avoid repeating the hassles they had this year, but Dysart councillors disagreed saying costs could rise next year.

A Geraldton no

Council decided not to endorse a resolution from Geraldton council reminding the Association of Municipalities of Ontario that it is an advisory body and does not have the right to negotiate directly with the province. AMO is dealing with the province on several issues, the biggest being disentanglement.

Reeve Chris Hodgson said AMO has since told municipalities that they are aware of this and any agreement they make with the province has to be ratified by the individual townships, so there is no need for the resolution.

Councillor Lloyd Leadbeatler, however, was not optimistic that council would be able to participate in the negotiations. "The difficulty is that municipalities are not going to have much say anyway."

In any case, both AMO and the province have backed away from the negotiating table because of the province's recent announcement that while it would give townships a two per cent increase in grants this year, they would take 11.4 per cent extra back. This is creating an atmosphere of mistrust said Hodgson so negotiations have stopped.

Mini-money

Bryan McConnell wants Haliburton Village to have its own mini-golf course and indoor batting cages. McConnell approached council to see if they would be willing to allow him to build a temporary bridge over a ditch leading into Drag River and also to allow him to convert a parking lot into a course on the old Cook property, nestled between the dam and Head Lake park. Hodgson said they would consider both proposals and let McConnell know in the near future.

"We don't want to delay you unnecessarily, but it is necessary to have a delay," said a tongue-twisting Hodgson.

McConnell operates a successful mini-golf course and driving range in Carnarvon.

Another business proposal was turned down because of a lack of sewage capacity. Donald Finn wanted to build a car wash in Dysart and wanted to hook the business up to the municipality's sewers. Hodgson said there is a need for a car wash in Haliburton, but that there wasn't enough sewage capacity left to allow it.

Finn was encouraged to apply again when the sewage plant expansion currently underway is completed in four years.

Crime of the week

Break-ins on Haliburton Lake may be related

Three cottages at the north end of Haliburton Lake were broken into in early January. Property in excess of $9,000 was reported stolen, including household articles, Toshiba satellite receiver, stereo systems, microwaves, chainsaws and clothing. This break-in may be connected to an earlier break-in at one of the same cottages in early September, 1992 where an Echo Star Video Cypher descrambler with a value of $3,000 was stolen.

If you have any information about this or any other crime, call Lindsay Crimestoppers at 1-800-563-TIPS (8477). You will never be asked to reveal your identity or to testify in court. If your information leads to an arrest Lindsay Crimestoppers will pay up to $1,000 in cash.

New drivers will face graduated licensing

Ontario will introduce a graduated licensing system for all new drivers effective in the spring of 1994, as a major component of the government's safety vision to make Ontario's roads the safest in North America, Gilles Pouliot announced last week.

"There is overwhelming statistical evidence that inexperienced drivers pose a very serious safety threat - not just to themselves but to other people on the road," said Pouliot. "Graduated licensing ensures all new drivers gradually gain practical driving experience in low-risk conditions before obtaining full driving privileges after their first two years on the road."

Under the government's proposed graduated licensing system, all new drivers will enter a two-level process lasting a minimum of 20 months.

In Level One, new drivers:

- will be allowed to drive only class G vehicles (cars, vans and small trucks)
- will be allowed to carry only as many passengers as there are seat belts in the vehicle
- may drive only when accompanied by a fully licensed driver with at least 4 years' experience, who has a blood alcohol level of less than 0.05 percent
- will be required to maintain a zero blood alcohol level
- will not be permitted to drive on 400-series highways, and some multi-lane urban expressways

- will be restricted from driving between the hours of midnight and 5 a.m.

- will be required to display a vehicle sign identifying themselves as a new driver

Level One will last for 12 months, but drivers will be able to reduce this time period to eight months if they successfully complete an approved driver education course.

To enter Level Two, new drivers will be required to pass a basic driving test with a government examiner. Level Two will last a minimum of 12 months. At this level more privileges are granted, but blood alcohol and passenger limitations remain.

At the end of Level Two, drivers will have to pass an advanced test focusing on their ability to recognize and take appropriate actions in hazardous situations.

A graduated licensing system with similar conditions will also be implemented for all first-time motorcycle drivers in the province.

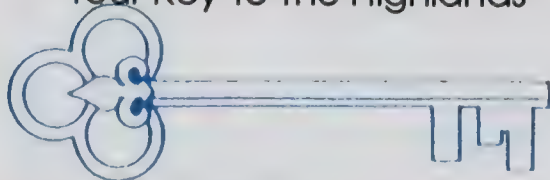

A committee of the Legislature will seek public comments on the details of the program.

The times of public consultations being held across the province will be advertised.

The public can also get more information by calling the Ministry's toll free line, at 1-800-387-3445 for information in English or 1-800-461-4803 for assistance in French.

"Your COTTAGE Key to the Highlands"

Volunteers are the real staff of life

In a recent "Report From Council", we stated that your Council had nominated Mr. Robert Keith "Bob" Beeney as a candidate for a Community Action Award. Under date of April 27, 1993, we received a letter from Elaine Ziemba, Minister of Citizenship, Province of Ontario in which she states, "Although your nominee was not selected, I want to extend my gratitude to you for participating in this awards program and for your nomination. Individuals like the person you nominated, who use their talents and energies to participate actively in their communities make a considerable impact on the goal of full integration of persons with disabilities into our society." We thank you Bob.

Provincial cuts

Along with the rest of the provincial municipalities, your Council has had to wrestle with the recently announced Provincial cutbacks. The impact to Anson, Hindon & Minden was a reduction in grants in excess of $37,000, as well as no extra supplementary funding for roads which was expected based on traditional transfers. These cutbacks have not been easy to absorb, but Council and staff have striven for minimal impact on the 1993 budget and no dramatic reduction in services.

June is Senior's month

Your Council recently proclaimed June as Senior's Month to once again join Ontario in celebrating the energy, creativity and dedication of the growing generation of Seniors. The community is encouraged to plan special events or visit an elderly person in June. Council is hosting a tea at the Minden Community Centre June 15th at 2 p.m. and invites all residents to join us in celebration.

Council also proclaimed:

* May 10 - 16th as Nurses Week to recognize the many ways nurses contribute to a high quality of health care;

* May 16 - 23 as "National Public Works Week" to express appreciation to the Municipal employees for a job well done;

* May 28 - June 6 as Canada's Fitweek to join Ontario communities in promoting friendly physical activities;

* June 6 to 12 Minden Timbersports Festival Week. Your municipality is a sponsor for the June 12th Timbersports Day Events when Minden main street will come alive with LumberJacks & Jills. Come help celebrate our logging heritage!

Composters for sale

If you don't have your composter yet, the last distribution day is Saturday, May 22 at the Minden Firehall from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Your Council, municipal staff and members of the Minden Environment Advisory Committee will be on hand to distribute several hundred composters plus videos for $16.00 cash tax incl. Drop over for a cup of coffee and pick up your composter to help reduce waste going to our landfill by up to 30 percent.

House numbering

A reminder that house numbers are

Council Report

from Anson, Hindon and Minden Council

now mapped for the town of Minden. You can ensure that emergency services will find your house quickly by mounting your house number in a prominent place.

Please drop by the Municipal Office or the Minden Post Office to find the number allotted to your building.

Welcome new businesses

Finally, we welcome and congratulate all the businesses and resorts recently opened in our Township. Times have been tough economically for most municipalities and Minden has suffered its share, but building permits are gradually increasing and other signs indicate a turn for the better.

This community can be proud of its determination to provide a healthy and prosperous lifestyle.

Housing registry on centre's file

The Haliburton Housing Registry is located in the Haliburton County Information Centre, Maple Ave., Haliburton. A current listing is also available at the satellite office in the Municipal Building, Milne St., Minden.

The registry provides tenants with a guide to currently available housing in the County, and information about assistance with landlord/tenant question. Anyone seeking accommodation should drop in regularly to check the registry board.

Landlords wishing to submit listings are asked to contact the Haliburton Centre to register.

For further information call 457-2733 - Monday to Friday or 286-4100 Monday or Tuesday.

AUDITORS' REPORT

TO THE MEMBERS OF COUNCIL, INHABITANTS AND RATEPAYERS OF THE CORPORATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF STANHOPE

We have audited the consolidated balance sheet of the Corporation of the Township of Stanhope as at December 31, 1992 and the consolidated statement of operations for the year then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Township's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards. Those standards require that we plan and perform an audit to obtain reasonable assurance whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation.

In our opinion, these consolidated financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Township as at December 31, 1992 and the results of its operations for the year then ended in accordance with the accounting principles disclosed in note 1 to the consolidated financial statements.

Seniors enjoy shopping bus trip to Huntsville

Here it is May at last, the snow and ice is all gone, wherever you look, nature is bursting with growth.

Saturday and Sunday were very quiet. Sunday afternoon Anita Smith came and read to us and Rev. John Burgess brought us Sunday evening Chapel service with Lorna Rowland playing the organ. It is such a calming way to start a new week. We truly thank John and Lorna.

Monday morning the volunteers, who were going with us on a shopping trip to Huntsville, began to gather at the Home to see that we were ready by 11:00 to leave. Believe me, this is some chore. The volunteers this time were Pearl Durant, Jean Bolt, Jean Robson, Mable Deacon, Betty Herlihey, Lorraine Swinson, Jack Sheddon and Dick and Sylvia Thompson. We left right on time. Doris Robertson was our able driver and organizer and her helper was Kathy Woods. When we arrived we all had lunch and shopped or wandered. Each resident was accompanied by a volunteer. I would like to thank Sylvia for the great care she gave me and I am sure the other residents feel the same for their volunteer. At 2:00 p.m. we boarded the bus for Hyland Crest.

Tuesday morning Chapel service was taken by Annette Bathe since Father Brian Parker was unable to attend. Thank you Annette, we appreciate it greatly. The afternoon was spent doing crafts and in the evening Corinne Arsenault organized two or three tables of euchre for which we sincerely thank her.

This year something new was organized for Mother's Day. It was held on Wednesday, May 5 at noon. It was in the auditorium - a Mothers' and Fathers' day combined into Parents' Day. The Residents each invited a close family member or close friend and they were asked to bring some food to be eaten with your fingers and the Home would provide what was lacking. It was served buffet style with help from the entire staff. After lunch there was a short program. Linda Fry read three poems composed by the residents and a reading by Doris Robertson. It was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone. There was a large turnout of family and friends. We sincerely thank everyone who made this such a success. Later, my family took me downtown, until Terry had to go to work.

Thursday, May 6 the tea party was brought and served by members of the Horticultural Society of Minden. A delicious tea was served by Jean Robson, Lynn Hancock, Joan MacKenzie, Muriel Green and Irene Fuhr. All these ladies donate their food and time to make this a happy social time for the Residents. We thank them heartily.

Thursday evening Brandon Jarvis, Valerie Patterson, Sarah Ladurantaye and Kathy Woods called bingo for us. There was a good attendance and we thank the girls and Kathy very much.

Friday was Happy Hour again and the entertainment was provided by the Scottish Dancers from Haliburton. Due to members having to work, etc. they were short one. Finally they persuaded Doris to try a simple dance and she helped to the end of the program. Earl Cooper played a couple of tunes on the bagpipes. The other dancers were Kathleen Owens, Dorothy Robertson, Francis Elstone, Margaret and Harold Ross and Mary Packard. The attendants were Ellen and Don Holden, Dottie Muirhead, Mary Guillemain, Dorothy Milne and Pearl Cowen. We sincerely thank you all and enjoy it no matter how many there were.

Safeguards may be necessary when giving power of attorney

Many seniors appoint a Power of Attorney without knowing what it is, why they should use it or what safeguards may be necessary.

Giving a person Power of Attorney authorizes that person to act on your behalf as legal agent or "attorney".

The appointment of such a legal agent is often a good idea, especially if you plan to travel and need affairs handled in your absence, or if you feel you cannot manage your affairs due to infirmity or old age.

The appointment may be made long before it may be required and left in the care of a lawyer or other trustworthy person.

A booklet explaining Power of Attorney is available free of charge from your nearest Information Centre in Haliburton or Minden.

HIGHWAY 60 ROUTE PLANNING STUDY FROM HIGHWAY 11 TO OXTONGUE LAKE FOR A FOUR LANE DIVIDED HIGHWAY W.P. 551-91-00

The Ministry of Transportation is carrying out a Route Planning Study for a new alignment of Highway 60 from Highway 11 easterly to Highway 35 or beyond, a distance of about 25 to 35 kilometres. The Study area is as shown below:

Various transportation alternatives are under consideration to address the capacity of the highway in the Study Area and to plan for the long term (20-40 year) Provincial Highway needs. The study progress to date has identified the problem, reviewed the existing and future highway capacity and deficiencies, screened the possible alternative improvement strategies, assembled a study database, developed a long list of route alternatives and screened the long list of alternatives to a short list of reasonable alternatives for additional study. Subject to the outcome of this study, the Ministry is planning for an ultimate four lane divided, controlled access highway facility.

Information Centres are held to provide the public and property owners with an opportunity to review the proposals and to discuss the project with Ministry staff. Preliminary route corridors will be on display. The Public Information Centres are scheduled as follows:

Severn Suzuki gives environmental plea

Three weeks ago, spiritual, scientific and political leaders including Mikhail Gorbachev and Thor Heyerdahl met in Kyoto, Japan, to discuss ways to change values to resolve the planet's environmental problems. The final speech of the conference was given by my 13-year-old daughter, Severn. Here is an excerpt of what she said:

"My mother once told me children are closer to creation. We haven't let go of our intimate connection and love of nature with all of its puddles, tadpoles, flowers, and furry creatures. We understand when Native people say these are our relatives. We are part of nature still.

"Watching you struggle to find how to change values, I wonder if adults, in their complicated work and lives, forget the simple things. The secret to changing values is to remember what and who you were as a child.

"Remember all the insects and birds, catching butterflies and looking for frogs in ponds? Remember playing in the grass and the trees? Remember how you loved them, how important they were, how you couldn't imagine your world without them?

"Remember your hopes? And your dreams? Remember how you trusted grownups to make sure everything would be all right? Remember how clearly you knew what was unfair and wrong? Remember how clear things were? Well, that's how clear the really important things are.

"What I worry is that you may be the last generation to have childhood memories of nature as it always was. I have had the chance to spend a lot of time in forests hiking, camping and canoeing, yet everywhere I've been, I've seen roads, burning, logging and pollution. And I'm one of the lucky ones.

"Almost all my friends who live in the city have no experiences or memories of forests or wild animals at all and are now completely disconnected from nature. A lot of young people are becoming more violent. I think it's the lack of contact with forests, rivers, trees and animals. Nature is calming and healing, but it is disappearing so rapidly, and everyday, new violence is increasing.

"I turn 21 in the year 2000. I will spend all of my adult life in the 21st century. But I will live with what you and your parents have already done and will do in this last Turnaround Decade - we will inherit what you leave us. That's why you must work to preserve the world - for us.

"To leave a livable planet for all future children we will have to make very big changes, very fast. Are you really going to do it? If you don't - who will?

Reflections

by David Suzuki

"I don't have a job. I don't understand the complexity of money and the economy. But I do know that I live in an incredibly rich country, while other kids my age, who are just like me, are starving on the streets in countries like Somalia and Bangladesh. I am willing to share and to give things up - I have plenty - but people and governments that have more than enough seem unwilling to share with the needy.

"Everybody says they want peace and happiness, but billions of dollars that could go to solving poverty and environmental problems, are spent on weapons to kill and destroy.

"I've tried to help save rain forests and rivers and animals, but I'm told a healthy economy comes first. But you can't eat money! You can't make a living if there are no fish, no forests, no clean air or water, no Nature to live on. Money can never replace our real necessities.

"You say children are important; but at the Earth Summit in Rio, only one country - Holland - sent children as official delegates, yet it's children who had the biggest stake in the decisions made there.

"Adults often say to me 'We've really messed up the world. But children like you are different. You are our hope. You're going to make the difference to save the world.' Does that excuse adults from acting? How can we be different when you are our role models?

"Last year, my environmental club went to Rio to remind the delegates they were deciding what kind of a world we children would grow up in. We joined thousands of other voices crying for change. But now, almost a year later, it's as if the Earth Summit never happened. It was supposed to be a turnaround conference where we would actually get on with the job of saving the planet. Today it seems as if everyone is worried about the economy and taxes and elections and no one is going to take the lead.

"You are our models, we try to be like you, so please be the way you should be. Why are you afraid to lead? What will your legacy be to us? And when I copy you, what will I leave for the generations to come?

"On behalf of all the children of the world, the future generations and other creatures, I ask you - what is it that you're waiting for?"

Severn received a prolonged standing ovation.

(David Suzuki is a writer, TV and radio host and a world-renowned geneticist. He is also a leading spokesman on social and environmental issues.)

CARDS OF THANKS

The family of the late Helen Stott would like to express their heartfelt thanks to relatives, friends and neighbours of The Terrace for their many acts of kindness during her lengthy illness. The many hospital visits, cards and flowers meant a lot to her. Thanks to Dr. Marc Chayer and the kind nursing staff at the Minden Hospital, also to the Minden ambulance personnel for their excellent care during her many journeys, the caring V.O.N. nurses, last but not least the Red Cross Homemakers, especially three whom she depended on and loved. A special thank you to Gord, Kirsten and Barry of Monk's Funeral Home for support and assistance. The Minden Lions and Lionesses for their brotherly support. To the many people who sent cards, floral tributes and charitable donations, your thoughtfulness was gratefully appreciated.

I had a wonderful Mother's Day due in part to the phone calls from my family, also my friends here in Minden. Thanks to the Ashworths for breakfast, to Scott, Marion, Gavin, Natasha, thank you for the beautiful flowers (do you guys want to be adopted?) to Rose for her hugs, Margaret we had a great blether, thanks. Wanda, your phone call topped the day. Thank you all. Annie.

Thank you from The Haliburton Highlands Rug Hookers. We wish to express our thanks to the many people who came out Sunday to see the Rug Hooking Display and to the following people for helping with our 1993 Annual: To Ann & Rita, and all the staff of PineStone, who worked tirelessly, always with a smile, to ensure the Annual would be a success. To Sylvia Holland and Wendy Bateman whose workshops were the Highlight of the week-end. To all of these local artists and businesses who donated gifts for the participants: Campbell's Florists, Ricki Woods, Deborah Wales, John & Lindsay Beaudry, Derek Rolfe, Wendy Ladaurantaye, Nancy's Florists, Gift House North, Peggy Barclay, Country Rose, Donna Guerin, Eleanor Hamilton, Valerie Bailey, Karen Turner, Artists of the Nuthatch, and the Chamber of Commerce. Our sincere thanks to all of you. Joan Stinson, Chairperson.

Bryce and Valorie Gilbert thank everyone who came to help celebrate our 25th anniversary. A very special thanks to our daughter Tina, our family and friends who helped her in any way, for the cards, money, gifts and flowers we received, we will always remember and can never thank everyone enough.

IN MEMORIAM

HUGHES: In loving memory of a beloved husband, father and grandfather, Roy Hughes, who passed away May 17, 1991. There is no parting from those we love
No distance can divide,
For today in memory's garden
We still walk side by side
Each dawning day a thought of him
At eventide a prayer,
And in the hearts that loved him
He always will be there.
Our memory lane is a lovely lane
Where the skies are always blue
A path we often travel on
Because it leads us to you.
Forever loved and missed by wife Reita and family.

WEBERT: In loving memory of a dear Husband, Dad, and Poppa, who left this life, May 15, 1992.
Though his smile is gone forever,
And his hand we cannot touch
Still we have many memories
Of the one we loved so much.
His memory is our keepsake
With which we'll never part
God has him in His keeping
We have him in our hearts.
Never forgotten, by your wife,
sons, daughter-in-laws, granddaughters and grandsons.
